FOUNDED 1881 No. 14611

More fuel has been thrown upon the fire of the Italo-Abyssinian dispute by the report that Abyssinia has annexed the sultanate of Jimma. Replying to an Italian note in this matter, the Abyssinian Government says it has merely appointed a guardianship over the young sultan who has lately succeeded to the sultanate. It is unlikely that Italy will be satisfied with this explanation.

Meanwhile, excitement has been caused by reports that the Italian Government has ordered all Italian subjects to leave Abyssinia within ten days. Such an order would mean that a declaration of war was imminent

However, it was later officially announced that this match were 6-3, 6-2. this report was erroneous. It has not tended to lessen the tension, in spite of the denial.

The Abyssinian question, which, threatens to involve Italy and Ethiopia in war, and which the Italians regard as the paramount issue of the present problems of world politics, was discussed by Signor Mussolini, Prime Minister, and Mr. Anthony Eden, British, Minister for League of Nations Affairs, yesterday and again this evening.

It is reported that during any NEW TAXATION MAY hour's conversation the statesmen's talk centred about a frank exposition of their respective! views on this problem.

WORTH-WHILE

Both British and Italian circles consider that this event, even if nothing else emanates from the meeting, has made Mr. Eden's visit well worth-while. For it is believed that when Mr. Eden returns Representatives, threats of open to London he will have a clearer revolt in the Senate and a hint of idea of the gravity with which filibustering tactics to come, have 6-4, 6-1, 6-3. London, June 25.

A heavy thunderstorn curtailed the lawn tennis championships at Wimbledon to-day. Play was only possible on four courts which were covered with tarpaulins. The remainder were under water.

Mrs. Moody has not quite reached her standard of three years ago, but she is hitting glorious forehand winners. She revealed a new stroke, also, on back-hand, very short, widely angled, soft shots, travelling across the court and falling dead near the net.

BRITAIN DODGING STABILISATION?

DUEL WITH GOLD BLOC

Paris, June 25. . Profound disagreement in the question of immediate currency stabilisation was manifested in to-day's sitting of the International Chambers of Commerce, particularly between the British official delegation and business leaders from other countries, including those of the Gold Bloc,

The Gold Bloe representatives pressed the demand that Britain should agree to a resolution calling for a conference of Governments for the purpose of introducing immediate stabilisation,

But Lord Luke, in a statement on British monetary policy, said the question of stabilisation went hand in hand with a discussion of the removal of excessive trade barriers. That was Britain's stand, he said, though he reaffirmed the belief that there was much in the recognition of the fundamental principle the international currencies must be settled by the sale of goods and service, instead of by the transfer! of gold and silver.—Reuter,

Anglo-Italian Plan of Co-operation

MULTI-LINGUAL FILMS

The presence in London recently of Commodore Luigi Freddi, the Italian Director-General of Cinematography, foreshadowed big developments within the Italian film producing industry. A scheme for n close Angle-Italian co-operation is being discussed.

Commodore Freddi, in an interview with the Kine weekly, said the main reason for his visit to London is to gain an intimate contact with the British film industry.

"It is the firm intention of the Italian Government" he said, "to render the Italian film a factor of world-wide importance.

"First, Italian pictures had to be given a strong basis in the home market by improving their quality. This, we decided, could not be brought about by suppressing private initiative, by chaining producers with all kinds of regulations and restrictions, but was to be Wlected by affording them every assistance possible.

"Hence, the studios and plants already existing were modernised and enlarged and a new studio was erected at Tirrenia, a vast territory in the vicinity of Rome that had formerly consisted of marshes ORANGE SYRUP which have now been drained.

"In addition to technical equiptalents, is the purpose of the it should be bottled closely. Institute for Film Art now being | _____ manner or property in the fore, one on each side developed by our Government.

"On the other hand, the Italian public at large had to become acquainted with the domestic pictures. Accordingly, the exhibition quota of one to three in favour of foreign films has been extended of late to all cinema theatres.

"Our endeavours to produce pictures on a scale large enough to give them world-wide appeal are, however, still impeded by the limited domain of our language. This difficulty we want to overcome by making multilingual-Italian and foreign language-versions, and we expect to gain the foreign co-operation needed for

Nevertheless, the debate gave Mr. Baldwin an opportunity of throwing light on the processes by which our Defence policy is formed, and especially on the part played by the Committee of Imperial Defence (C.I.D.). He also indicated that the Government were seriously considering whether the appointment of a Defence Minister to co-ordinate Defence measures would be of service, and invited suggestions.

Broadly speaking, there are three schools of thought on the aubject:

(a) That existing arrangement are adequate and are designed to place responsibility for co-ordinating National Defence directly on the Prime Minister and his Cabinet. That the appointment of a Defence Minister is, therefore, unnecessary, and would not conform to the spirit of the Constitu-

This recapitulation shows that the Government cannot be accused of hurricd decisions, of keeping its own members in the dark, or of neglecting to consult or co-ordinate expert opinion. On the whole, one finds it a reassuring picture, and one may note with satisfaction the influence now exercised by the C.I.D. in forming Defence policy in addition to the invaluable service it performed in the pre-War period by bringing into Defence preparations organisations outside the control of individual Service Departments.

OVER-ELABORATE

The criticism may perhaps be made that procedure was overelaborate and cumbrous, and that it reveals a machinery which would not adapt itself to the actual conduct of war, however well it functions in the study of Defence preparations. Although, therefore, we can congratulate ourselves on improvements made since the pre-War period, have we yet reached a stage at which we should be wise to leave well alone? That, I take (b) That the existing system it, is what Mr. Baldwin meant when he invited discussion on the

RHODESIAN FANATICS

FOMENTING UNREST

Johannesburg, May 30.

Several hundred troops and police are now concentrated in the troubled area of the Northern Rhodesian copper mines, where at noon to-day it was reported that all was quiet, although thousands of natives are still on strike.

All day trains with more troops and special police have been passing northwards, while Air Force troop carriers are "taxi-ing" from Salisbury to Ndola transporting more men.

Hitherto, the unrest has been confined to spasmodic attacks on isolated buildings and the stoning of Europeans and oversetting of lorries and motor-cars in the Luanshya area. In one instance a mob attacked a mine power house and tried to smash the machinery, but the European staff kept off the raiders until the building could be surrounded with a live electric cable, about which the natives knew enough to re-

The authorities view the trouble gravely, as it is known to be connected with the notorious "Watchtower," a secret sect of religious! fanatics who for many years have sown dissension among Rhodesian natives. They were originally connected with the Watchtower movement in America but broke away and adopted doctrines of their own.

SELF-STYLED SAVIOUR

The year 1925 culminated in the Mwanalesa horrors when Mwanalesa, an unemployed native who styled himself Africa's saviour, and preached advice to drive out the Whites and seize Africa for the Africans, was responsible for 178 murders before he was captured and semi-publicly executed in Broken Hill Gaol.

Again in 1932 a native was sentenced to six months' imprisonment at Lusaka for preaching oppression by the Whites, and telling his congregations that American Negroes were coming over to free their brethren and slay all

During the present trouble the police have arrested a native at Luanshya in similar circumstances, and it is known that the countryside has been broadcast with pamphlets advocating the same doctrines.

It_is fertile _ground_for_the "Watchtower" propaganda, for all natives over a vast area, where they are still semi-savage, firmly believe that Mwanalesa will return one day and lead them to freedom, and thus it is easy to arouse a fanatical mob who are liable to cause serious trouble unless quickly suppressed.

The Rhodesian strike has since been settled,—Ed.]

Something Children Often Forget.

Little children, absorbed in their games, often disregard nature's call—they are too young to understand the importance of immediate attention to such matters.

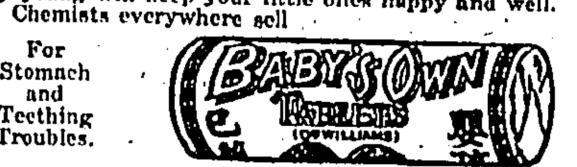

This neglect results in constinution, loss of appetite, indigestion, biliousness, bad breath; the child becomes moody, fretful, feverish and generally out-of-sorts. When such is the case a dose of Baby's Own Tablets will usually quickly correct the trouble, relieve the congestion, and restore normal functioning and health,

Many of the ailments to which young children are subject have their origin in the stomach. If children are to thrive they must eat well, digest what they eat, and be unfailing in Regularity of the Daily Habit.

They can only do so when the stomach and intestines are in perfect working order; Baby's Own Tablets ensure this. The prescription of a British medical child-specialist, the tablets are pleasant in taste, so there is never any trouble in administering them. They are guaranteed absolutely pure, and equally suitable and safe for the youngest infant in arms as for children more advanced in life. An occasional dose, when needed, of this ideal medicine for the very young will keep your little ones happy and well.

MARKET LOWER YESTERDAY

New York, June 25. The following reports on the New York Stock market have been received through Messrs. Swan, Culbertson & Fritz:

The Wall Street Journal report on | yesterday's market: Stocks to-day were lower, due to uncertainty regarding Tax and Utility legislation. The market displayed some resistance near the close. Stocks on the Curb Exchange were also lower. Bonds were irregularly lower, notably secondary railroad issues.

S. C. & F. New York office cables: Stocks were under moderate pressure early in the session, but closed firm as Traders came into the, market. The Atchison, Topcka & Santa Fe Railroad Company has declared a dividend of $2.00 per share. The (Commonwealth and Southern Corporation has earned $5.28 per Preferred share for the year ended May 31, against $5.86 the previous year.

New York and Chicago commodity reports received through Messrs. Swan, Culbertson and Fritz:-

Cotton: There are no July Notices, which is without precedence and is conducive to steadiness. Pool holdings of certificated cotton, reported not to be tendered, are less than 40,000 bales over October. There will he no Loan announcement until the August crop estimate is published and there will be no decision regarding the Processing Tax injunction until the Autumn. Four brokerage opinions are bullish, whilst five others are bearish in their outlook.

Wheat: The weather is favourable for harvesting and the movement is increasing. Private estimates of the European crops indicate an increased yield.

Corn: The market was steady. News, governing the market, is also unchanged. Rubber: There was some Trade buying on reactions. An improvement is expected after July liquida-

Sugar: The market was dull and slightly easier, with small nervous liquidation in evidence. Refiners profess indifference, but they are watching "spots" closely.

Some people appear to have suddenly discovered that big ships are undesirable, because they are costly and possibly uneconomic, and that three lesser vessels are to be preferred to one large one any day. On the economic side, it is much too early to pronounce an opinion that would be more than mere guess-work. Certain it is that the fashion or craze call it what one will—is at the moment distinctly in favour of the huge luxury liner, and that might be debated for evermore chief maritime honours will naturally go to the nation that has the best of them all. Also, it is inevitable and justifiable that a country with the seafaring and shipbuilding traditions of Great Britain should not be content wth a back seat in this intensive competition. There is, therefore, no reason whatever to apologise for the Queen Mary. Her owners believe that she will money, made its entertainment. be able to pay her way, and there can be little doubt that she will abundantly justify her existence. Meanwhile, it may be noted that on her trips both ways across the Atlantic the Normandie's fine performances were achieved with something to spare. However, the Queen Mary will be still more powerful, and it may therefore be that the palm for speed may not be very long in French certain, namely, that the Norappearance on the high seas of efforts to create a fresh record will be followed by Britons everywhere with the keenest possible interest. A week or two ago Mr. St. John Ervine started a discussion on the question of children's pocketmoney, whether it is markedly larger than it was, say, a generation ago. From that discussion he has discovered that the pocketmoney given to children, especially of the working and lower-middle classes, is now anything from four to twelve times as large as it was in his childhood. From this he infers the falsity of propagandists' assertions that the mass of the people are poor and becoming poorer. That side of the question without overcoming the political prejudices of the antagonists of capitalism. But what is to many thoughtful people a much more interesting and practical question is whether the child with a lot of pocket-money is happier than the child with little or none. Mr. Ervine has no doubt. He favours little money. There is one very important moral consideration. The child of to-day, given a large amount of pocket-money, buys its entertainments, whereas a child of forty years ago, given very little The child of to-day is becoming dangerously dependent on outside sources of amusement. An old sea dog we were.

Our first ship was called the Zamboanga Maid, because it had a coppered bottom.

Shortly afterwards we became a lieutenant, all the other tenants beating it and leaving us to face the landlord. After that we weren't very keen on landllords, so we took to the sea, the lonly scalords in those days be-fleet in less than two years. We thereupon promoted ourself to Admiral, skipping the position of Commodore because we didn't like the name.

By this time we were covered with so much braid that we were able to retire shortly before our navy rebelled. So we started a haberdashery store, selling all our braid within a very short time to the Hongkong Volunteer Naval Reservists.

tongue out at them. Where the devil were we? Oh, yes, our career.

Well do we remember our first rebellion. We captured the cruisers Ginsling and Pingpong and sending all the sailors ashore, replaced them with sailor's sweethearts. These sweethearts consisted chiefly of beautiful women who did not turn up their noses at the old saying "War is war".

Naturally the sailors kicked up a devil of a row when we put them ashore and before long they had I began by saying that Europe the whole navy out after us. order ! to

. morals of our brave-hearted girls we issued a gin-bell order. One gin-sling at one bell, two ginslings at two bells, and so on up to eight bells,

It wasn't long, however, before the girls became discontented. They sent a deputation to us from the crews' quarters and complained that there weren't enough men to go around.

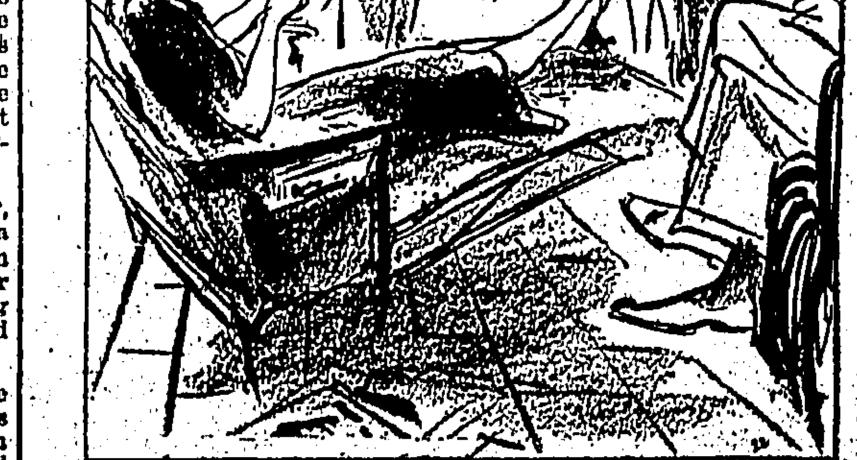

But it wasn't for nothing that we had become an Admiral, and we won the ringlenders over to our side by promising to tattoo their names on our chest the very first time we touched port. As we never drink port, our constitution standing nothing but rum, we thought we were pretty safe in making this promise.

In celebration of our victory over the malcontents, we gave an order for sixteen bells instead of

This was a most unfortunate thing, because the extra empty gin bottles left a trail in our wake, which was speedily picked up by our wrathful pursuers.

Our girls were all for stopping the ship when they saw the smoke on the horizon, but we put them off that idea by telling them that the pursuing warships were manned by our Hongkong girl friends. Fearing that they would have to share us with another couple of hundred demales, our rebels hastily set all sail and as the wind whiffled through the stays (we are talking about the ship now, not the girls) we sped merrily on our way.

Then came the storm. Whimpering slightly, Mabel crept into

PERRY SUBDUES TURNBULL

Auteuil, May 30.

Great Britain's two leading players, F. J. Perry and H. W. Austin, played leading rules in the big matches of the French Lawn Tennis Championships here to-day. Each scored a brilliant victory which carried him into the quarter-final round of the men's singles. Both wins were in straight sets.

F. J. Perry bent D. P. Turnbull, the Australian Davis Cup player, 6-3, 6-3, 6-3; and H. W. Austin defeated Andre Merlin, ranked as France's second player, 6-0, 6-1, 6-4. "On this form of Perry and Austin the Davis Cup should be safe for Great, Britain"-was Auteuil's verdict after these victories. Following upon these achievements; came the successes of the Australians, J. H. Crawford and V. B. McGrath, which make four Empire representatives in the last eight.

Austin gave a rare display of al-Merlin's service game, he won another five games in a row-and against France's second best player! It rhythmically produced backhand drives sped again and again to the spot from which Merlin had been Austin's second sequence of games carried him to two-love in third set. By then Merlin was beginning to toss up the balls skywards, and Austin, never invulnerable to a deep NEW lob, lost the second game of the match. Merlin then equalised at 2-2, kept level to 4-4, his speed and i accuracy in placements breaking up Austin's unimpeachable length. There was a thrill in the last game SHARE HONOURS of all, Merlin saving three match points before failing at the fourth.

TEST CRICKET TEAM

Surrey Captain Replaces Mitchell-Innes

London, June 25. E. R. T. Holmes, the Surrey Cap-tain, has replaced N. S. Michell-Innes in the third test against South Africa which is to commence on Saturday. Michell-Innes is suffering from hay fever .- Reuter, Holmes is considered one of the brightest bats in County cricket at present and last month in a match against Gloucester scored a brilliant 78, 56 of which were sixes or fours.

Holmes, who captained Oxford University in 1927, has scored two centuries to date this season, 101 against Lancashire and 114 against Worcester.

This is his first appearance in a Test match. He was born in August, 1905.

In an 18-holes exhibition match at Winged Foot Golf Club, New York. Gene Sarazen and Jesse Sweetser recently defeated Miss Wethered, the English girl, and Mrs. Glenna Collett Vare, whom they gave 6 strokes, by 2 and 1.

KATHARINE STRYKHURST, beautiful, 20, discontented and restless because her wonliby father, VICTOR STRYKHURST, and her ariatocratic atenmother, BERTINE, refuse to let Katharine undertake any sort of work. Katharine rides daily with MICHAEL HEATHEROE, young westerner who runs a rkiling club. She masures herself she is not interested in Michael but feels a pang of lealousy when SALLY MOON, local coquette, enrolls at the club for lessons. ZOE PARKER, Katharine's friend, returns from Europe where she has been taken to forget a love affair with GIBBS LARKIN, of whom her parents disapprove. Zoe begu Katharine to help her arrange a meeting with Gibbs. Katharine refuses. Dr. JOHN KAYE, relative of Katharine's stepmother, returns from Europe to start medical practice. Katharine welcomes him as

CONTRACT BRIDGE

Solution to Previous Contract Problem

By W. E. McKenney

It is hard to lay out any definite rules for the play of the hand at bridge. Each hand presents a problem in itself. I think that the beginner at contract loses a number of hands because he tries to adhere to some set rule previously learned. The fun of contract is ffiguring each hand out for itself. Manila Irving Rosman of the Morrisania Bridge Club in the Bronx. N. Y., presents a hand to-day with playing problem, not complicated, but one ensily overlooked.

know that we have two losing clubs | Delbi and probably two losing spades. Calle True, if the ace of spades is in the Hongkong East hand we may have but one Howrah losing spade.

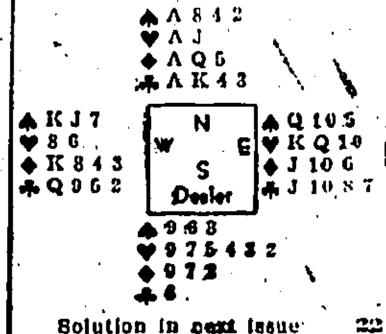

But West is the player who has made a vulnerable overcall and is undoubtedly the one who holds the ace of spades. Now, why not try to play for a spade split, hoping that West does not hold two honours? Therefore, on this hand, even though we have nine trumps between the two hands, trump must not be led. If you lead a trump, the opposition will immediately leash two club tricks.

You should cash your four diamond tricks and on the fourth diamond discard a club. Regardless of who ruffs now, your contract can be made.

If West ruffs with the eight of spades, you must remember that you were figuring him for only one an announcement is forthcoming honour; therefore, play him for to the effect that the Empress is informed that all Goods are being the blank ace.

Of course, if East ruffs with the early part of next year.

JAPANESE DOUBLES PAIR IN FORM

WOMEN STARS MOVE UP

London, June 25. A heavy thunderstorn curtailed the lawn tennis championships at Wimbledon to-day. Play was only possible on four courts which were covered with tarpaulins. The remainder were under water.

The Duke of Kent arrived before play commenced at 5.15 o'clock and saw the American girl. Mrs. Helen Wills-Moody dispose of the Hungarian star, Miss Baumgarten, 6-0, 6-1, in thirty minutes. Mrs. Moody has not quite reached her standard of three years ago, but she is hitting glorious forehand winners. She revealed a new stroke, also, on back-hand, very short, widely angled, soft shots, travelling across the court and falling dead near the net. Another first rounder, Miss Helen Jacobs of America, beat Mlle. Nellie Adamson of Belgium, but not so handily as Mrs. Moody beat her opponent. The scores in this match were 6-3, 6-2.

MOVES UP

In a second round match, Frau Sperling of Germany beat Miss Beazley of Great Britain, 6-0, 6-2. Miss Dorothy Round, the holder, defeated Miss McOstrich, also of Britain, 8-6, 6-3, in another second round match. The champion was sorely pressed at times in the first sct. She had had a bye in the

Japan's men's doubles team, Nishimura and Yamagishi, won in straight sets from the Americans, Hines and Culley, the scores being 6-4, 6-1, 6-3. This was the first doubles match in Wimbledon's

Rome, June 25.

More fuel has been thrown upon the fire of the Italo-Abyssinian dispute by the report that Abyssinia has annexed the sultanate of Jimma. Replying to an Italian note in this matter, the Abyssinian Government says it has merely appointed a guardianship over the young sultan who has lately succeeded to the sultanate. It is unlikely that Italy will be satisfied with this explanation.

Meanwhile, excitement has been caused by reports that the Italian Government has ordered all Italian subjects to leave Abyssinia within ten days. Such an order would mean that a declaration of war was imminent.

Anglo-Italian Plan of Co-operation

MULTI-LINGUAL FILMS

The presence in London recently of Commodore Luigi Freddi, the Italian Director-General of Cinematography, foreshadowed big developments within the Italian film producing industry. A scheme for a close Angle-Italian co-operation is being discussed. - -

Commodore Freddi, in an interview with the Kinc weekly, said he main reason for his visit to London is to gain an intimate contact with the British film industry.

"It is the firm intention of the Italian Government" he said, "to render the Italian film a factor of world-wide importance.

"First, Italian pictures had to be given a strong basis in the home market by improving their quality. This, we decided, could, not be brought about by suppressing private initiative, by chaining producers with all kinds of regulations and restrictions, but was to be effected by affording them every assistance possible.

"Hence, the studios and plants already existing were modernised and enlarged and a new studio was erected at Tirrenia, a vast territory in the vicinity of Rome that had formerly consisted of marshes ORANGE SYRUP which have now been drained.

"On the other hand, the Italian public at large had to become acquainted with the domestic pictures. Accordingly, the exhibition quota of one to three in favour of foreign films has been extended of late to all cinema theatres.

"Our endeavours to produce pictures on a scale large enough to give them world-wide appeal are, however, still impeded by the limited domain of our language, old cabinet-maker, who, it was This difficulty we want to overcome by making multilingual-Italian and foreign language-versions, and we expect to gain the women with considerable savings, foreign co-operation needed for

Broadly speaking, there are three schools of thought on the subject:

The criticism may perhaps be made that procedure was overelaborate and cumbrous, and that it reveals a machinery which would not adapt itself to the actual conduct of war, however well it functions in the study of Defence preparations. RHODESIAN FANATICS

FOMENTING UNREST

Johannesburg, May 30.

Several hundred troops and police are now concentrated in the troubled area of the Northern Rhodesian copper mines, where at noon to-day it was reported that all was quiet, although thousands of natives are still on strike.

All day trains with more troops and special police have been passing northwards, while Air Force troop carriers are "taxi-ing" from Salisbury to Ndola transporting

Hitherto, the unrest 'has been confined to apasmodic attacks on Isolated buildings and the stoning of Europeans and oversetting of lorries and motor-cars in the Luanshya area. In one instance mob attacked a mine power house and tried to smash the machinery, but the European staff kept off the raiders until the building could be surrounded with live electric cable, about which the natives knew enough to re-

The authorities view the trouble gravely, as it is known to be connected with the notorious "Watchtower," a secret sect of religious fanatics who for many years have sown dissension among Rhodesian natives. They were originally connected with the Watchtower movement in America but broke away and adopted doctrines of their own.

SELF-STYLED SAVIOUR

The year 1925 culminated in the Mwanalesa horrors when Mwanalesa, an unemployed native who styled himself Africa's saviour, and preached advice to drive out the Whites and seize Africa for the Africans, was responsible for 178 murders before he was captured and semi-publicly executed in Broken Hill Gaol.

Again in 1932 a native was sentenced to six months' imprisonment at Lusaka for preaching oppression-by the Whites, and telling his congregations that American Negroes were coming over to free their brethren and slay all Europeans.

During the present trouble the police have arrested a native at Luanshya in similar circumstances, and it is known that the countryside has been broadcast with pamphlets advocating the Bame doctrines.

It is fertile ground for the 'Watchtower''--propaganda, for allnatives over a Vast area, where they are still semi-savage, firmly believe that Mwanalesa will return one day and lead them to freedom, and thus it is easy to arouse a fanatical mob who are liable to cause serious trouble unless quickly suppressed.

Little children, absorbed in their games, often disregard nature's call—they are too young to understand the importance of immediate attention to such matters,

This neglect results in constipution, loss of appetite, indigestion, billousness, bad breath; the child becomes moody, fretful, feverish and generally out-of-sorts. When such is the case a dose of Baby's Own Tablets will usually quickly correct the trouble, relieve the congestion, and restore normal functioning and health.

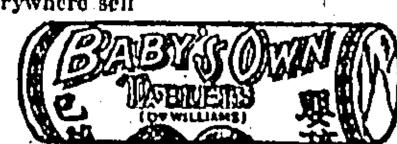

Many of the ailments to which young children are subject have their origin in the stomach. If children are to thrive they must eat well, digest what they eat, and be unfailing in

But what is to man has the best of them all. Also, it is inevitable and justifiable that a country with the seafaring and shipbuilding traditions of Great Britain should not be content wth a back seat in this intensive competition. There is, therefore, no reason whatever to apologise for the Queen Mary. Her owners believe that she will be able to pay her way, and there can be little doubt that she will abundantly justify her existence, Meanwhile, it may be noted that on her trips both ways across the Atlantic the Normandie's fine performances were achieved with something to spare. However, the Queen Mary will be still more powerful, and it may therefore be that the palm for speed may not be very long in French keeping. That, however, remains to be seen. One thing is certain, namely, that the Normandie's feats have added piquancy to the expected earlyappearance on the high seas of Britain's mammoth liner, whose efforts to create a fresh record will be followed by Britons everywhere with the keenest possible interest. Economists and accountants may argue about the arithmetic of the case to their heart's content, but he must be a poor-spirited Briton who, even in these days of oftsmashed records, cannot get a

A week or two ago Mr. St. John Ervine started a discussion on the question of children's pocketmoney, whether it is markedly larger than it was, say, a generation ago. From that discussion he has discovered that the pocketmoney given to children, especially of the working and lower-middle classes, is now anything from four l to twelve times as large as it was l in his childhood. From this he infers the falsity of propagandists' assertions that the mass of the people are poor and becoming poorer. That side of the question might be debated for evermor without overcoming the politica prejudices of the antagonists of thoughtful people a much more interesting and practical question is whether the child with a lot of pocket-money is happler than the child with little or none. Mr. Ervine has no doubt. He favours little money. There is one very important moral consideration. The child of to-day, given a large amount of pocket-money, buys its entertainments, whereas a child of forty years ago, given very little money, made its entertainment. The child of to-day is becoming dangerously dependent on outside sources of amusement. As Mr. Ervine says, a boy who can get a shillingsworth of fun out of a penny seems to have a great advantage over one who can only get a pennyworth of fun out of a

Years ago no motorist would ever think of going off for a run without carrying innumerable spare parts. This is not necessary to-day, since the various units and components are so reliable that it is seldom a spare one is required on the road. A spare wheel is carried, of course, to save mending punctures en route, but this is about all the average ownerdriver ever takes.

There are a few things, however, which should be packed. One is a first-class electric torch. If an adjustment has to be made after dark or if anything goes wrong with the electrical system a good light is essential.

Two additions to the tool kit are also invaluable at times. One is a neon plug tester with which a misfiring cylinder can be located in a fow moments. The other is. one or two spare plugs.

With all these Chinese warships swarming into Hongkong, and all sorts of rumours flying around, we think it's about time we broke the news that we were once an Admiral ourself.

An old sea dog we were. We started our sea career at the age of 17, being then known as a cadet. A cadette is

Our first ship was called the a coppered bottom.

Shortly afterwards we became a lieutenant, all the other tenants beating it and leaving us to llords, so we took to the sea, the only sealords in those days being the kind of sharks that swim. Our skill at Crown and Anchor soon earned us promotion and within a few weeks they had made us captain. We captained the Zamboanga Maid's Crown and Anchor tenm so efficiently that we discovered that we had won the entire

By this time we were covered with so much braid that we were able to retire shortly before our navy rebelled. So we started a haberdashery store, selling all our braid within a very short time to the Hongkong Volunteer Naval Reservists.

We hate the navy so much, in fact, that ever since the Chinese warships arrived, we have spent hours on the Praya, poking our tongue out at them. Where the devil were we? Oh, yes, our career.

Well do we remember our first rebellion; "We" captured the eruisers Ginsling and Pingpong and sending all the sailors ashore, replaced them with sailor's sweethearts. These sweethearts consisted chiefly of beautiful women who did not turn up their noses at the old saying "War is war".

Naturally the sailors kicked up a devil of a row when we put them ashore and before long they had

had become an Admiral, and we won the ringleaders over to our side by promising to tattoo their names on our chest the very first time we touched port. As we never drink port, our constitution standing nothing but rum, we thought we were pretty, safe in making this promise. In celebration of our victory over the malcontents, we gave an

our wrathful pursuers. Our girls were all for stopping the ship when they saw the smoke on the horizon, but we put them off that idea by telling them that the pursuing warships were manned by our Hongkong girl friends. Fearing that they would have to share us with another couple of hundred females, our rebels hastily set all sail and as the wind whiffled through the stays (we are talking

FILIBUSTER THREATS

-Washington, June 25. Resentment in the House of Representatives, threats of open revolt in the Senate and a hint of filibustering tactics to come, have brought the Administration leaders to pause in their plans for rushing through President Roosevelt's "soak-the-rich" tax programme, President Roosevelt was going to attempt to push this legislation through Congress before Saturday night's session was concluded.

Fearful that hasty action might result in the defeat of the measure in the Finance Committee, leaders are considering the advisability of abandoning their intention of adding new taxes to the Emergency Tax Bill. Instead, they may attempt the passage of a separate bill later.

In spite of hints that President Roosevelt might veto the Holding Company Bill unless it contained the "abolition clause," the House Rules Committee has declined to permit a roll call vote on' this clause. Meanwhile, complete agreement has been reached by the conferees of both Houses on the Wagner Industrial Dispute Bill, which now returns to both Houses for approval of the Conference report.

J. C. BROWN ELIMINATES

(By "Sagax")

Because of the prominence which both players command in the local bowls circles, the singles Championship match between J. C. Brown, of the Kowloon Bowling Green Club, and R. Basa, of the Craigengower Cricket Club, played on the Club de Recreio green yesterday afternoon, was always interesting although the Happy Valley exponent fell away badly after a promising start and was beaten by 21 shots to 15 on 26 heads.

Basa opened in a promising manner and the bowling was of a high stand-London, June 25. and during the first couple of heads from the twelfth head to the end, he lost much of his accuracy and only bowled on an average of one good

NEW CRICKET RULE MAKING FRIENDS

A Laughable Compromise Recalled

London, June 2.

A quarter of the cricket season is already over, which is a depressing reflection to the faithful. For some the past month has left bitter memories of shivering hours on windswept grounds, perhaps with a doctor's bill to follow, writes "Watchingman" in the Observer. Others who wisely wrapped themselves in winter raiment, have enjoyed long days of singularly varied play. A gallant innings is still a gallant innings, even when it is viewed over the top of an up-turned coat-collar.

Everything has been present except game, and cricket will cease to sunshine. It is many years since such | cricket. high scoring and such low scoring In any case, if a decision is made layed a match there has always been sooner or later the ban on fast bowlthe new leg-before-wicket rule to ing will be applied in a match certain discussion and lively argument.

A COMIC EPISODE

A COMIC EPISODE

In a game of long ago, when Cambridge were playing the M.C.C. at Lord's, Albert Trott's fast ball hit H.-H. Marriott rather painfully, and the University captain, partly as what schoolboys used to call a "try-on," suggested that Trott was dangerous, and that it would be a tragedy if some of the side were injured and kept out of the 'Varsity match. To the delight of the Cambridge skipper, the kindly M.C.C. secretary, probably swayed by sentiment, arranged with the M.C.C. captain that Trott should bowl no more that day. The consequence was that Marriott made 146, and the University scored 507 for six wickets and won the match. The Cambridge captain did not stop laughing for weeks.

It has been finely said that the worn pitch, not the bowler, was considered to be the villain this time. As an example of the wicket's vindictiveness, it has been pointed out that even is not to fear it. When the pitch is BAGS FREE when Larwood bowled medium pace is bad—the glue-pot type—it is When Larwood bowled medium pace is bad—the glue-pot type—it in one of his deliveries hit a batsman now the practice of most players to severely on the hand. Cambridge captain did not stop laughing for weeks.

Now that was a rare case, the outcome of exceptional circumstances. The limbs of Blues are sacred things a few days before the University match. But even those whose memories bridge several decades cannot recall an occasion when it was thought necessary to ban all fast bowling until the Trent Bridge affair the other day. There has always been very fast bowling, and in the long history of the game there must have been many wickets at least as badly worn as that at Nottingham. I cannot help feeling that if the unhappy "bodyline" rumpus had not occurred, with its scandals and accusations and exaggerations, which led people to believe that any ball that rises high is a menace to life, there would have been less fuss at Trent Bridge.

An unfortunate precedent has been established. In future, when the bali is getting up, the "gentlemen's agreement" entered upon at Nottingham may be repeated, until in dry wonther the counties find that their fast bowlers are merely passengers. And then fast bowling will pass out of the lawn Bowls Singles Championship yesterday, the game concluding on the 23rd head.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

Solution to Previous Contract Problem

By W. E. McKenney

It is hard to lay out any definite rules for the play of the hand at Batavia bridge. Each hand presents a Bombay problem in itself. I think that the Calcutta beginner at contract loses a num- Halphong ber of hands because he tries to Hankow adhere to some set rule previously Kobe learned. The fun of contract is Kowloon figuring each hand out for itself. London Manila

Irving Rosman of the Morrisania Bridge Club in the Bronx, N. Y., presents a hand to-day with playing problem, not complicated, but one easily overlooked. West has opened a heart. We know that we have two losing clubs | Colombo and probably two losing spades, Delhi True, if the ace of spades is in the Hongkong East hand we may have but one Howrah dosing spade.

But West is the player who has made a vulnerable overcall and is undoubtedly the one who holds the ace of spades. Now, why not try to play for a spade split, hoping that West does not hold two honours? Therefore, on this hand, even though we have nine trumps between the two hands, trump must not be led. If you lead a trump, the opposition will immediately eash two club tricks. You should cash your four diamond tricks and on the fourth diamond discard a club. Regardless of who ruffs now, your contract can be made. If West ruffs with the eight of spades, you must remember that you were figuring him for only one honour; therefore, play him for the blank ace.

Of course, if East ruffs with the jack of spades, the hand is easy as on the first spade trick East queen will be covered by South'
